

Spiritual Care

Spirituality can be an important source of strength, comfort, and hope for patients and families. Chaplains are available for spiritual and emotional support at Dana-Farber/Children's Hospital Cancer Center. Chaplains represent a broad range of religious and spiritual traditions. Chaplains can provide a comforting presence and be a resource for helping you meet your own unique spiritual needs.

Services chaplains provide:

- Support around spiritual, religious, and emotional issues
- Prayer request at any time during your treatment
- Religious rituals, sacraments, or worship services
- Help with life transitions or losses
- Scripture or other devotional resources in a variety of traditions and languages
